Why Study Abroad?

"I learned not only what I am capable of—which exceeded my expectations of myself—but also what pushes the line for me and what I cannot tolerate.

It was a great internal recognition. My best advice is to go in head first and have no regrets!"

-Jennifer Beynon

Linnaeus University, Sweden

"I was able to teach Nutrition, in Spanish, to children between the ages of 10-14 years and witness first hand how health is viewed in a developing country.

This is an experience that you absolutely cannot receive confined to the borders of the United States."

-Kelsey Griffith

Universidad Catolica del Uruguay, Uruguay

"Studying abroad gave me a greater understanding that there is a large and quickly developing dance world outside the US. I think it was really important for me to recognize how this industry can shift from culture to culture.

Personally, it also challenged the way I think about art and my approach to making art."

-Rachael Mauney

Edith Cowan University, Australia

Classical Studies Study Abroad

Classical Studies Major Specifics

When is the best time to study abroad?

While every student's situation may vary, students majoring in Classical Studies typically study abroad during their late sophomore or early junior year. Finding the most appropriate program as well as the best time to go may often depend on academic background, degree requirements, and other considerations, such as a second major, minor, or foreign language requirements.

What courses should I take abroad vs. at UNCG?

It is important that students start planning their study abroad plans early. Students majoring in Classical Civilization and Classical Archaeology need to complete the at least through 204 in Latin or Greek to graduate and it is recommended that students complete this requirement before they graduate. Students majoring in Classical Languages and Literature need 3–300 level or above courses in Latin or Greek to graduate. It may be possible to earn credit towards these requirements abroad.

Students can also take a combination of courses to meet requirements in Classical Studies, GEC credits, elective courses, and even language courses while studying abroad.

Do I need to know a foreign language?

Almost all of our international partner programs offer extensive coursework in English available to exchange students. However, please see the information above regarding the language requirements for your major.

Eligibility Criteria...

Participants must be fulltime students in good academic standing (about 2.75 GPA). Further requirements include support from your department and prior approval for courses taken abroad. All exchange program participants are required to attend pre-departure orientation sessions covering academic, administrative, health, financial, and cultural information necessary to prepare for a successful experience.

When Should I Apply?

The Fall and Academic Year application deadline to IPC is February 15th. The Spring application deadline is September 15th.

When Can I Study Abroad?

The best time to study abroad differs depending on your major. Talk to the study abroad coordinator in your department and to an IPC advisor. Generally, students study abroad during their Sophomore, Junior, and Senior year. Students have the option of studying abroad during their fall semester, spring semester, throughout an entire academic year, or during the summer.

What's Special About UNCG's Programs?

Rather than signing up for preset programs, students work with academic advisors to create tailor-made study plans with their goals in mind. Our programs become an integrated part of a student's path to graduation, rather than an "extra" tacked on.

Getting Started!

IPC is dedicated to finding the right program for each student, and our huge array of partner universities allows us to do just that. Call (336) 334-5404 or stop by 207 Foust to schedule an appointment with a study abroad advisor. This will provide you with more information on appropriate programs, finances, application procedures, and more.
