Why Study Art Abroad?

"While studying abroad is both fun and looks good on a resume, those reasons don't come close to justifying why students should study abroad, nor do they describe what it actually feels like to have a study abroad experience. Studying abroad is one of the most amazing experiences you will ever have! You will learn more about yourself than you ever imagined possible. You will laugh, cry, sing, dance, play, and get tested in ways you never could have, had you not left the borders of the United States.

My advice to students who are considering studying abroad is simply just to do it. It will be the most fundamentally transformative experience you will ever have."

Art Study Abroad

Art Major Specifics:

When is the best time to study abroad?

While every student's situation may vary, art majors typically study abroad during their Junior or Senior years. However, due to the structured course sequencing, it is important that students consider their concentrations and choose their study abroad time accordingly. Speak to art and IPC advisors to discuss your options and to find the best fit for you.

What courses should I take abroad?

The BFA is the more structured major, so semester-long programs will require more planning. The BA major is more flexible, so with careful planning and pre-approval of transferable courses by the art department, all art students can have successful and rewarding study abroad experiences.

Do I need to know a foreign language?

Although there are no language requirements for art majors, the department highly recommends students consider taking a foreign language and culture course while abroad. This will enhance the experience and benefit students professionally.

Other benefits...

Simply studying abroad in any country waives a Global marker, and depending on the program, a Global Non-Western marker. Speak to art and IPC advisors for more details.

Can I Afford It?

Yes! On semester or year-long exchange programs, students pay regular UNCG tuition and fees. Housing and meal costs are typically equivalent to a semester in residence at UNCG. Any financial aid received at UNCG can be applied to the program costs. In addition, students are eligible to receive travel grants to help offset the costs of airfare.
